MAKING CERTAIN TECHNICAL CORRECTIONS IN LAWS RELATING TO NATIVE AMERICANS, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

SEPTEMBER 29 (legislative day, SEPTEMBER 25), 1995.—Ordered to be printed

Mr. MCCAIN, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, submitted the following

REPORT

[To accompany S. 325]

The Committee on Indian Affairs, to which was referred the bill (S. 325) to make certain technical corrections in laws relating to Native Americans, and for other purposes, having considered the same, reports favorably thereon without amendment and recommends that the bill do pass.

PURPOSE

The Purpose of S. 325 is to make certain technical corrections in laws relating to Native Americans and for other purposes.

BACKGROUND

S. 325 would make certain technical corrections in laws relating to Native Americans. S. 325 includes two provisions which make technical corrections to the Pokagon Restoration Act (25 U.S.C. 1300j) and the Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa and the Little River Band of Ottawa Indians Act (25 U.S.C. 1300k). In addition, the bill also includes a third provision that repeals the “Trading with Indians” statute (18 U.S.C. Section 437).

The first section of S. 325 amends Section 9 of the Pokagon Restoration Act (25 U.S.C. 1300j) which pertains to the establishment of tribal membership rolls. Section 9 of the Pokagon Restoration Act incorrectly refers to the “Pokagon Bands of Potawatomi Indians.” The proper reference should be in the singular, to the “Pokagon Band of Potawatomi Indians”. S. 325 changes all references in Section 9 of the Act from the plural to the singular.

The second section of S. 325 amends Section 9 of the Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa and the Little River Band of Ottawa Indians Act (25 U.S.C. 1300k) which pertains to the establishment of tribal membership rolls for both tribes. Section 9 of the Act incorrectly refers to both Indian tribes in the singular. The language in Section 9 of the Act referring to the tribes should refer to bands. Section 2 of S. 325 corrects all references in Section 9 of the Act by using the plural.

The third section of S. 325 repeals the Trading with Indians Act. The Trading with Indians law was originally enacted in the 1800's to protect Indians from unscrupulous Indian agents and other Federal employees who were using their positions of trust to engage in private business dealings that exploited Indians. The original 1834 Act, codified at 25 U.S.C. 68, imposed a complete ban on any person employed by the Federal government in Indian Affairs from having any interest in transactions with Indians except on behalf of the United States government. The penalty for conviction of a violation of this Act included a $5,000 fine and removal from Federal employment. In 1874, Congress enacted a law, which was codified in 25 U.S.C. 87 and has since been repealed, that applied restrictions on all employees of the United States or its agencies involving contracts made with Indians or the Government for purchases, transportation, or delivery of goods or supplies for Indians or for the removal of Indians.

In 1939, these laws governing trade with Indians were amended to permit Federal employees, pursuant to Secretarial regulations, to purchase arts and crafts from Indians, so long as such purchase was not for the purpose of resale. These amendments were intended to make clear that the laws governing trade with Indians were not intended to prevent Indian employees of the Federal government from receiving benefits made available to Indians either by the Federal government or by their tribe. In 1948, Congress imposed severe restrictions on all Federal employees, whether employed in Indian Affairs or not, from having any interest in contracts for the purchase or delivery of supplies or goods to Indians. This law superseded the provisions of the 1874 Act and was codified in 18 U.S.C. 437. The penalties established under the 1948 law included a fine of up to $5,000, up to six months' imprisonment, and removal from office.

In 1980, the Congress replaced all existing laws relating to “Trading with Indians” by repealing both the 1834 and the 1939 Acts, and by modifying the 1948 Act. Under current law, employees of the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the Indian Health Service are prohibited, with limited exceptions, from engaging in trade with Indians except where such trade has been authorized by the President by regulation.

The current provisions of the “Trading with Indians” laws, including the criminal prohibitions against commercial trading with Indians, have had a significant adverse impact on employee retention with the Indian Health Service and the Bureau of Indian Affairs. Because the prohibitions in current law also apply to the spouses of BIA and IHS employees, these adverse impacts are far-reaching. If a spouse is engaged in a business which is wholly-unrelated to matters affecting the Indian Health Service or the Bureau of Indian Affairs, they are in violation of the Trading with Indians Act. In addition, a Federal employee can violate the Trading with Indians Act by simply selling their used car to another Indian. Although these statutes served an admirable purpose when enacted in the 1800's, they are now relics of a very different era. The important public purposes serviced by the original Trading with Indians Act are now adequately protected by the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch.

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY

S. 325 was introduced by Senator Thomas on February 1, 1995 and was referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATION AND TABULATION OF VOTE

In an open business session on March 29, 1995, the Committee on Indian Affairs ordered the bill to be favorably reported to the Senate without amendment, with a recommendation that it do pass.

COST AND BUDGETARY CONSIDERATIONS

The cost estimate for S. 325, as calculated by the Congressional Budget Office is set forth below:

U.S. CONGRESS,
CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE,
Washington, DC, April 4, 1995.

Hon. JOHN MCCAIN,
Chairman, Committee on Indian Affairs,
Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The Congressional Budget Office has reviewed S. 325, a bill to make certain technical corrections in laws relating to Native Americans, as ordered reported by the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs on March 29, 1995. CBO estimates that enacting this bill would have no significant impact on the federal budget or on the budgets of state and local governments. Enactment of S. 325 would not affect direct spending or receipts; therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures would not apply.

S. 325 would make technical corrections to the Act to Restore Federal Services to the Pokagon Band of Patawatomí Indians and the Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa and the Little River Band of Ottawa Indians Act. The bill also would repeal Section 437 of Title 18 of the United States Code. Section 437 prohibits any employee of the Bureau of Indian Affairs or Indian Health Service from purchasing any service or any real or personal property from any person of Native American descent.

If you wish further details on this estimate, we will be pleased to provide them. The CBO staff contact is Rachel Robertson.

Sincerely,

JUNE E. O'NEILL, Director.

REGULATORY IMPACT STATEMENT

Paragraph 11(b) of rule XXVI of the Standing Rules of the Senate requires each report accompanying a bill to evaluate the regulatory and paperwork impact that would be incurred in carrying out the bill. The Committee believes that S. 325 will have minimal regulatory or paperwork impact.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS

The Committee has received no official communications from the Administration on the provisions of the bill.

Sections 1300j and 1300k, and 18 U.S.C. Section 437, with existing language which is to be deleted in black brackets and the new language to be added in italic:
